

Clair grew up in England and was an artistic swimmer from 9-14, many moons ago. She had to give up due to other commitments but never forgot her love for the sport. After Uni, she returned to her former synchro club and became a coach, then scorer and judge, until she decided to travel for a year. On her return to England, she met an Australian and moved to WA to be with him.

In the 25 years since she came to WA, Clair has worked as a teacher, tutor, swimming teacher and Mum. She has always been keen to pursue her love of 'Synchro', but until recently, the opportunity to coach in the Southwest wasn't an option. Now, she is building an enthusiastic group of swimmers, 3 of whom have been with her since the first session about two years ago. With a regular group of 10 junior swimmers plus 3-4 masters, the group is growing well and hoping to become a club soon.

Clair has been on the Artistic Swimming WA Board of Directors as the regional club/group's representative for over a year. She is passionate about promoting the sport in the Southwest as a fun and affordable way for everyone and anyone to keep fit and healthy.
